

COURT REQUIRES MINERS TO WITHDRAW STRIKE ORDER

NATIONWIDE ROUND-UP OF ALIEN RADICALS MADE LAST NIGHT

Department of Justice Agents Act Simultaneously in N. Y., Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis and Other Cities

Stopped Red Revolt Billed to Start Today--1000 Arrested--48 in New York

New York, Nov. 8.—Forty-eight men and two women were arrested today as a result of a nation-wide round up of alien radicals starting last night. They were charged in warrants by immigration inspectors with alien criminal anarchy and were said to be aimed at averting the "red" revolt which was to have started today—the second anniversary of the establishment of the second Russian soviet government.

Department of justice agents were reported to have acted simultaneously in Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Newark, N. J., Jackson, Mich., New Hartford, Waterbury, New Britain, and Ansonia, Conn. More than one thousand arrests have been made.

More arrests were expected to be made within a few hours by the department of justice agents in their campaign to purge the country of radical agitators.

A number of known anarchists have not been taken but their nests have been cleaned out. Many of those taken in last night's raid will be released as no evidence against them was obtained.

Beginning of Campaign To Suppress Russian Radicals

RALPH COUCH, (United Press Staff Correspondent.) Washington, Nov. 8.—Raids upon radicals which began last night constitute the beginning of a nation-wide campaign to suppress the union of Russian radicals. In its constitution it threatens the overthrow of the United States government, Attorney Assistant General Garvan announced. "Many more arrests will be made today," Garvan said.

Garvan has a copy of the Socialist constitution which pledges thousands of members to bring about a revolt and socialism of industries, every part of the United States and

"The socialist has bases in almost every part of the United States and has been in operation for more than ten years," he said.

Garvan today began tabulating reports of arrests from more than a score of cities.

The union of Russian workers, organized by Wm. Sztow, now chief of police in Petrograd, was for the revolution which was to overthrow the American government it was stated by the department of justice today.

Arms have been accumulated and were seized in last night's raid at Newark. The federal raiders captured a complete counterfeit plant by which they planned to make money for the bolshevik regime.

Last night's raid included red flags, ture, it was announced at the department, guns, revolvers, and tons of literature of justice.

"It was organized in New York in 1907 by a group of eleven men led by Wm. Sztow, now chief of police in Petrograd," the department of justice announced.

"The purpose of the socialists was to amalgamate all the Russian groups in the United States into one organization."

Last night's raids included leaders of the organization in Buffalo, Akron, Youngstown, New York, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Detroit, Baltimore, Newark, N. J., and Elizabeth, N. J.; Hartford, Warren, Bridgeport, New Haven and Seymour, Conn.

Romen Hoscicheck, alleged organizer of the union in Trenton, N. J., was one of those arrested. In his room were found guns, powder, copper and brass wire, electric batteries and war paper.

The union held a convention in Detroit in 1914 which was attended by delegates from all principal cities in the United States and Canada.

The delegates adopted a resolution which later became a part of the constitution and has not been changed since.

The Russian union has sixty locals with a total of 7,000 active members, officials stated. The last convention of the organization was the fifth held in New York Jan. 10, at which time the plan was made to organize hundreds of more locals and active memberships. Propaganda was to be carried on in every part of the United States through newspapers and paid agitators, according to the department of justice.

The union of Russian workers believe in mass action including armed action in time of national strife. Its principles do not favor the bolshevik form of government but members of the organization are willing to accept the support of any radicalism or group of men as an expedient for furthering their own ends.

A nation wide revolution in the U. S. alleged to have been fostered in Russia has been frustrated by federal agents.

The uprising which is said to have been planned to start today apparently was averted by a series of raids by the department of justice in nearly a score of cities last night and early today in which close to six hundred men and women were arrested.

The revolutionary movement was directly in charge of unions of Russian workers declared to be more radical than the bolshevik organizers in Petrograd. It is said to have seven thousand members in this country who were ready to establish their own government when the United States government had been destroyed.

According to government officials a quantity of arms gathered in preparation of the revolution were seized in the raids. It was regarded as significant that most of the prisoners were Russians.

Given Until Nov. 11 at 6 O'clock to Withdraw Strike Order Which is Held Illegal

J. L. O'SULLIVAN, (United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 8.—Officials of the United Mine Workers of America today were ordered by Federal Judge A. B. Anderson to withdraw their strike order calling on 400,000 members to strike.

The judge also made the restriction order preventing them from furthering the strike a permanent injunction.

The union leaders were allowed until 6 o'clock Nov. 11, to withdraw the strike order.

The judge interrupted the argument of the attorneys for the miners to state that he had made up his mind on the questions involved.

"I think this is the most lawless thing I ever saw in my life. I consider this rebellion. The government is supreme even to the labor union."

Judge Anderson stated there was no question but that this country was still at war legally and the Lever act which makes it unlawful to conspire against production or distribution of food and fuel was still in force.

"Operation of railroads is endangered by the strike. The railroads are still carrying troops winding up war conditions. The railroads also are carrying United States mail. No man can tell me that any group of men can conspire to stop railroads."

The judge stated he wished to give the union plenty of time to withdraw the strike order and he assumed that they are American citizens and will withdraw.

After a conference between John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers and other officials and attorneys for the miners they decided they would call a meeting of all union officials for Monday and they would have until Tuesday to comply with the court order. The request was granted.

"The Clayton act in my opinion does not apply to this case," Judge Anderson said. "Congress has the right to declare war and carry on war and it is necessary to feed and clothe its soldiers."

$40,000 Robbery at Helena Mont.

Theft Was "Frameup" Authorities Assert, Youth Admits After Arrest

Helena, Montana, Nov. 7.—Charles Stevens, 18, messenger for the Union bank, today confessed, according to County Attorney Lester Noble and Sheriff George Huffaker that the theft yesterday of a package containing $40,000 being carried by him to the bank was a "frameup" and implicated in the alleged confession two men arrested by the police and later released.

The suspects, James Ford and George Blodgett, were rearrested and are being held without charge.

Stevens declared the two men threatened him with death when he tried twice to withdraw from the plot. He declared, the authorities said, that when he received the package Wednesday, he met Ford and Blodgett, gave them the money, and then went with them to the rear of a cigar store where they bound, gagged and struck him on the head to make the robbery appear realistic.

Stevens was arrested at a hospital last night, where he had been taken and was sent to the county jail.

Ford and Blodgett deny knowledge of the affair. The money has not been recovered.

According to the first story told by Stevens, he was held up by two men on one of the principal streets of the city, forced into an alley, struck, bound, gagged and robbed.

EMPLOYERS SHOULD RECOGNIZE COLLECTIVE BARGAINING RIGHT

So Recommends Senate Committee Investigating Steel Strike--- Suggest Labor Program

Senate Considering Withdrawal Reservation

They Also Warn Labor it Must Rid Itself of Ultra Radicalism to Inspire Confidence

By RAYMOND CLAPPER (United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, Nov. 8.—Warning that labor must rid itself of ultra radicalism if it expects to hold the nation's confidence and recommending legislation to lessen the dangers of strikes and industrial conflicts, the senate labor committee today made a report to congress on information of the steel strike. The committee asserted the employer should recognize the right of collective bargaining and labor must select for its leaders only those whose Americanism is above question.

"The reds used the steel strike to further their interests in this country. It has been regretted that Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, has not dealt more firmly with the reds in his own organization."

The country's program of legislation to guard against further industrial commotion follows:

1. Establishment of a body similar to the war labor board with power of compulsory investigation. Large power in mediation and conciliation by law authority and compulsory arbitration.
2. Americanization legislation.
3. Federal aid used in encouraging home owning, this being considered an antidote for unrest.
4. Revision of naturalization law to require immigrants to learn English within five years after arriving in this country.
5. Enactment of the strictest law to curb anarchists and revolution.

The committee criticized Wm. Foster, strike leader. "There is no place in this country for either industrial despotism or labor despotism," the committee declared.

"The strikes are a relic of barbarism, but at present strikes are the only way for labor to secure even its just demands. If the employer refuses to grant them or to submit to arbitration, it is not to their credit or our nation that no way has been devised to settle these disputes without strikes."

Police Mobilized in N. Y. City

in Rutgers Square Where the Reds Were to Start Revolution

(By United Press) New York, Nov. 8.—Eight hundred police were mobilized shortly after noon today on Rutgers Square which was to have been the starting point this afternoon of Russian reds, according to information unearthed by secret services operatives.

The demonstration is believed to have been planned as part of the nation-wide revolution and was to have resulted in a general attack on police according to this information.

Lots had been drawn by reds to send a committee to murder certain officials and as many police as possible regardless of the reds who would fall.

Thousands of persons gathered around the square following arrival of the police. Officials believed many were drawn by curiosity. With the police on deck they believed no outbreak would occur.

North Dakota Miners Enter Strike

At the Same Time the Court Ordered Withdrawal of Strike Orders

(By United Press)

Bismarck, N. D., Nov. 8.—While federal court at Indianapolis today ordered United Mine Workers officials to withdraw the strike order for the nation-wide strike, the North Dakota lignite miners entered the strike today.

Notices with the name of Henry Drennen, district president of the miners here, were posted in mines throughout the state late Friday, state officials said today.

Miners throughout the state walked out according to reports at the capital. Strike actions showed failure of Governor Frazer to bring the miners and operators together after extended conferences.

The governor today made no mention of the state's plan for operation of the mines. A snow storm is sweeping down on North Dakota today and with only two or three weeks' coal supply in sight, officials fear suffering may result from the strike order.

Notice Served on Teutons to Obeey Armistice Allied Protocol is Accompanied by Note Threatening to Withhold Effectiveness of Treaty Washington, Nov. 6—Notice was served on Germany by the allied and associated powers in a note and accompanying protocol, forwarded last Saturday, that the treaty of peace would not go into force until Germany executes to the satisfaction of the allied and associated powers obligations assumed under the armistice convention and additional agreements.
The note, made public tonight by the state department provides that the German government shall send representatives to Paris Nov. 10 to make final arrangements for the putting into effect of the treaty. But the note specifies that before the treaty can be made effective the German representatives shall obligate their nation to carry out the terms of the protocol.
The protocol contains a number of obligations assumed by Germany in the armistice convention and complementary agreements which have not been carried out and which have been the subject of urgent representations. These include the withdrawal of German troops from Russian territory and the delivery of German tonnage.
Most important, however, in the obligations Germany is asked to assume is the replacing of vessels destroyed at Scapa Flow with five light cruisers, and to make up for the first-class battleship sunk at Scapa Flow by turning over floating docks and cranes, tugs and dredges equal to a total displacement of 400,000 tons. In this respect the protocol declares:
"The allied and associated powers cannot overlook without sanction the other infractions committed against the armistice convention and violations as serious as the destruction of the German fleet at Scapa Flow, the destruction in the North Sea of the submarine U-48 off Ferrol and the destruction in the North Sea of certain submarines proceeding to England for delivery."
Replacement of the submarines destroyed by the turning over of additional submarines and submarine machinery is provided.
Provisions of the armistice agreements and peace treaty which the protocol demands that Germany carry out are:
Delivery of 42 locomotives and 4-460 cars as yet not turned over.
Delivery of all documents, specie, values of property and finance, with all issuing apparatus, concerning public or private interests in the invaded countries.
Delivery of additional agricultural implements in lieu of railroad matterial.
Restoration of works of art and artistic documents and industrial materials removed from French and Belgian territory and as yet not completely restored.
Payment of the value of aerial material exported to Sweden, Holland and Denmark in violation of treaty terms.
The protocol concludes with the following paragraph:
"In case Germany should not fulfill these obligations within the time specified, the allied and associated powers reserve the right to have recourse to any coercive measure or other which they may deem appropriate."

The Scheurer Trio is a combination of three fine artists of unusual qualifications. Each has had long experience before the concert-going public and is fully capable of presenting music of the best grade in an authoritative manner. A concert by this company is one to be anticipated with joy by every true music lover.

Mr. Karl Scheurer, Violinist
Mr. Scheurer's long association with the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, as second concertmaster and later as solo viola player has made him popular with thousands of people. Also his popularity as a musician has been greatly enhanced by his conductorship of the well known Philharmonic club and many other concert companies employed by the University Extension Division. Mr. Scheurer possesses all the temperament and technique of true musicianship, and is generally regarded as one of the finest artists of the country.

Miss Grace Chadbourne, Soprano
The soloist for the occasion was Miss Grace Chadbourne, a brilliant soprano of Minneapolis, who carried off the honors of the evening. It has been some time since our people have heard such a singer in Decorah. Her rendition of difficult arias was beautiful, showing a splendid advantage her large range, which always was backed with plenty of volume. These qualities, combined with her perfect enunciation, fine sonority, and splendid stage presence, make Miss Chadbourne an ideal concert singer. —The Decorah Journal, Decorah, Iowa.

Miss Ethel Alexander, Pianist
Miss Alexander's excellent technique, the clearness and accuracy of her playing, her strong full tone and the intelligence of her work, make it alive and interesting. —Musical Courier.

MACHINISTS ANNUAL BALL

To be Given New Year's Eve at Gardner Auditorium. One of Brilliant Social Events

The Machinists union will give its annual ball on New Year's eve at Gardner auditorium. Statement of this has been made now to set at rest gossip about whether it would be given or not.

For some thirty years the ball has been given and the first break in the calendar occurred in 1918 when the flu ban interfered. In 1917 the union distinguished itself by donating $100 cash to the Brainerd Dispatch tobacco fund given to the boys in service overseas.

Hon. F. E. Little has been designated honorary chairman of the committee. Bert Kylo is the active chairman. Plans under way contemplate many novel features for the dance, which is always regarded as one of the brilliant events of the social season.

WASHINGTON AGAIN
OPEN TO TOURISTS

SIGHT-SEERS FLOCKING THERE BY THOUSANDS AS THEY DID BEFORE THE WAR.

MANY ARE SCHOOL PUPILS

All the Old Attractions, of Which Congress is the Chief, and Some New Ones Are Enjoyed by the Visitors—Temporary War Buildings Remain.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.

Washington.—With the coming of the clear, cool days of October the tide of sightseers has set in here. October and November and May and June are the big sight-seeing months. The people from outside have learned that these months mark the favorable seasons for visiting the national capital. The reappearance of the sight-seeing crowd this fall is another reminder that the war is over. With the entrance of the United States into the war the word went out that the national capital had no room for idle visitors and so from April, 1917, until recently there was not an unusual number of sight-seers. The crowds now remind one of the days before the war.

Before the sightseeing stream was interrupted in the spring of 1917 more than one million visitors came here every year. Many of the high schools throughout the eastern section of the country had included a visit to Washington for the pupils of the schools as a part of the regular course of study. That educational bodies have returned to this practice is indicated by the crowds of high school students that are now making their appearance. Student bodies have come from as far west as Ohio and from as far north as the northern part of New York state.

Congress the Chief Sight.

Visitors are finding that the old attractions are all here, and that the war has created some additional ones. Congress, with most of the sight-seers, is the first attraction. Just now the visitors from outside are particularly fortunate in being able to listen to the senate discuss the treaty of peace with Germany. Ordinarily there are a good many more applicants for admission to the galleries than can be accommodated. An effort is made to give preference to the student bodies.

Next to congress and the capital building, the Congressional library building and its contents attract. Then there is the visit to the Washington monument and the ride or the climb to the top of it, the visit to the bureau of engraving and printing where the paper money and postage stamps are made, the visit to the treasury with its large stocks of money, the trip through the old war, state and navy building; a look through the government printing office, and then an exploration of the new building occupied by the department of the interior, a structure that has more floor space than any other public building in America.

The visitors also have to have a look at the temporary buildings that were put up to meet the demands of the war. These are to be found in Potomac park, on the Mall and on the Union Station plaza. The buildings in Potomac park and on the Mall are used for offices, while those on the plaza are hotels for women government employees.

The visitors discover that the work has just been resumed on the important government improvements that were under way when the war broke out. The most conspicuous of these improvements is the Lincoln memorial in Potomac park. It would have been completed by this time had not the war interfered.

Nearly All Open to Tourists.

Not all of the "must not" that went up during the war have been removed, but generally speaking tourists again have the freedom of the city. During the war all the public buildings were closed to visitors. Now they are all open to tourists except the White House. When the United States entered the war the iron gates leading into the White House grounds were closed and this meant, of course, the closing of the east room of the White House to visitors. The iron gates are still closed against visitors. There has been relaxation to this extent, that if a member of congress sends friends to the executive office with a note of introduction they will be shown through the lower part of the White House. Of course this rule is abrogated during the illness of the president, but the practice will undoubtedly be revived.

Visitors see one thing they did not see before the war, and that is daily practice flights of airplanes over the city. The Bolling flying field is just across the Anacostia river from the city. Tourists may also see the cement foundations of the aircraft guns that were placed in position during the war in various parts of the city, but the guns are no longer in position.

Is Looking After Legal End of Coal Strike for Federal Government

This is the man who is handling the government's legal procedure in connection with the soft coal miners' strike. He is Charles B. Ames, assistant attorney general of the United States. It was on his application that Judge Albert B. Anderson of Indianapolis issued a sweeping injunction restraining the officers of the United Mine Workers of America from prosecuting the general strike.

Pietists.

This religious sect was also called "Separists." It was a sect of the Lutheran church which preferred private to public worship. The founder was Spencer of Leipzig and his home was called "Collegia Pietas," because his disciples met there. Ordained clergymen had no marked precedence and anyone was permitted to address the assembly, as among Quakers.

History Repeats Itself.

Briggs and Fowler were talking of the great war fought in the days when the world was considerably younger. "You know," said Briggs "it always seems to me that those old warriors were very much like our modern financiers." "What do you mean?" asked Fowler. "Well they were always investing some one else's capital, weren't they?"

Possible Origin of "Loafer."

An old Dutchman in New York had the misfortune to have a shiftless young American fall in love with his daughter. He disapproved of this and used to say to her, "Here comes that 'loafer' of yours, the idle good for nothing." How the "a" got into the word is not known, but an idle man hanging around came to be called a "loafer."

History of the Melon.

Melons were first extensively cultivated in France early in the seventeenth century, but were known to the ancients from the commencement of our era. The Egyptians grew them. They are said to have been carried to America by the Portuguese.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot be Cured, by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All druggists, 75c. P. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

THAT SUGAR SHORTAGE

While explanations do not fill the empty sugar bowl, they are better than no sugar unexplained; and there is, it seems, a sufficient cause for the empty bowl. Sugar statisticians find that in the crop year 1913-1914 the European sugar crop amounted to nine million long tons as against four million long tons in 1918-19. Thus from a great sugar exporting country Europe has come to be a large buyer in the world's market. It is also found that in spite of the large increase in sugar cane production, the world suffers a shortage this year of two million tons of sugar.

The Executive Secretary of the United States Sugar Manufacturers' Association says that this country consumed, between January 1 and September 1, this year, 3,263,000 long tons of sugar as against 2,661,000 long tons for the corresponding period last year, or six hundred thousand tons more than ever before in a similar period.

From 83 pounds per capita of consumption in 1914 we ran down to 73.36 pounds in the war stress of 1918; but if we continue through 1919 at the rate already given, we shall have consumed this year 92.4 pounds per capita, and shall have eaten up one-fourth of the entire world's supply of sugar.

In the light of these figures, then, we may draw the conclusion that we now have an empty sugar bowl because we have already eaten our full supply of sugar. This may be cold comfort, but it is worth knowing.—Minneapolis Journal.

Where the Spike Went.

Answering a question as to what became of the gold spike that was driven into the last rail laid in building the Union Pacific railroad on its completion in 1869, a subscriber writes: "It was first photographed, and then melted up and recast into very small spikes about 15-16ths of an inch long, and they were distributed to the more prominent railroad men present. Among the recipients was my father, now deceased, from whom I received one of the photographs mentioned and a miniature gold spike. There are probably very few of these now in existence. The original spike was full size and engraved with the date May 30, 1869, and the words: 'Last spike of the Pacific Railway,' and 'Presented by D. Hewes.'—Outlook.

Wealth.

There is no wealth but life. Life including all its powers of love, of joy, and of admiration. That country is the richest which nourishes the greatest number of noble and happy human beings.—Ruskin.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

A Coated Tongue? What it Means

A bad breath, coated tongue, bad taste in the mouth, languor and debility, are usually signs that the liver is out of order.

Prof. HEMMETER says: "The liver is an organ secondary in importance only to the heart."

We can manufacture poisons within our own bodies which are as deadly as a snake's venom.

The liver acts as a guard over our well-being, sifting out the cinders and ashes from the general circulation.

A blockage in the intestines piles a heavy burden upon the liver. If the intestines are choked or clogged up, the circulation of the blood becomes poisoned and the system becomes loaded with toxic waste, and we suffer from headache, yellow-coated tongue, bad taste in mouth, nausea, or gas, acid dyspepsia, languor, debility, yellow skin or eyes. At such times one should take castor oil or a pleasant laxative. Such a one is made of May-apple, leaves of aloe and jalap, put into ready-to-use form by Doctor Pierce, nearly fifty years ago, and sold for 25 cents by all druggists as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

Bessie Barriscale gives another proof of her versatility in "Kitty Kelly, M. D.," her new Robertson-Cole release, distributed by Exhibitors Mutual. The popular blonde star's success in this production is unique, inasmuch as the role is different from anything she has essayed for some time. Heretofore, the beautiful Bessie has specialized in society dramas, but in "Kitty Kelly, M. D.," she assumes the role of a woman doctor in a western mining town, and the change is decidedly refreshing.

When the horny-handed miners of Fracas, Arizona, heard that a woman doctor was coming into their midst, the boys anticipated having a lot of fun with the feminist, and formed a reception committee to meet her at the train and give her the "razzberry."

They changed their minds when a very chic, very pretty, and very-much-alive young lady stepped into their midst. The old "razz" was converted into an enthusiastic reception, while every man in town quickly developed a tummy-ache, liver complaint or incipient tuberculosis.

Young Rand, foreman of the mine, develops an acute case of heart-trouble, but is put on probation and a Revo diet when he becomes too presumptuous. Jerry Williams, the bad man owner of the Palace Bar, entices Kitty into an isolated cabin and gets rough. Rand rescues Kitty after beating up Williams, and is afterwards accused of his murder when Williams is found dead with Rand's hat beside the end.

The mystery of the actual murderer of Williams is cleverly sustained and furnishes dramatic suspense which is kept keyed up to a high pitch to the end.

MARY PICKFORD SCORES HIT
 Photoplay Based Upon Famous Stage Success Proves Delightful to Large Audience at Park Theatre

The charm and personality of Mary Pickford never were more delightfully in evidence in any of her previous screen portrayals than were manifested by her in her quaint picture, "Captain Kidd, Jr.," which was presented with unusual success at the new Park theatre yesterday. The photoplay, which is based upon Rida Young's famous stage success of the same name, proved itself a charming vehicle for the popular star, and its reception by the big audience at the New Park theatre was in the nature of triumph. It will be shown again tonight.

Once before Mary Pickford played a Scotch role—in "The Pride of the Clan," one of her most popular Arctcraft pictures. In "Captain Kidd, Jr.," her new photoplay which will be shown at the New Park theatre today she is again Scotch, but transplanted from the heather to somewhere in America, as the granddaughter of Angus MacTavish, keeper of a curio and bookshop where the buried treasure, which is the basic idea of the story, is first poised about.

On the stage, this play, by Rida Johnson Young was a great success. In the film with Mary Pickford in the lead it seems destined to create even a greater furor, to judge by the reports emanating from the studio.

SAVING OUR BACON

Origin of an Ancient Colloquialism in Connecticut.

Expression Used When Debtor Gets Best of Creditors by Questionable Methods in Business Deals.

Distribution and sale of the government supply of bacon brought to the minds of many who are acquainted with old sayings the ancient colloquialism, "Saving one's bacon." The thrifty housewife, laying in a store of the smoked meat, assures her near neighbors that she is "saving her bacon." The housewife, of course, is telling the truth, but as she repeats the ancient colloquialism she fails to use it in its proper sense.

The housewife who is so gay over "saving her bacon" would be horrified and justly provoked if her neighbor would reply: "What! You cheating your creditors?" And that is just what she means if she employs the term properly. The story of the origin of the colloquialism is credited to Connecticut, according to the Hartford Times.

In the days when the Charter Oak was green and Sir Edmund Andross was more green, New London boasted of a citizen of the name of Fitz John Winthrop. He was a sailor, and more-over of literary tastes. These tastes were more distinctly commercial. That is, while he was quite a bibliophile on his own account, and had a goodly store of books, he was in the business of collecting books for others. Probably because he was something of a connoisseur, the colonist who coveted foreign published books engaged him to obtain them when he was in port on the other side; or, knowing their fads, he would, of his own account, make the purchases, and bring them over, disposing of them at a fair profit.

Among the customers was a lawyer who was also interested in shipping, politics and several other things which in our later day might go by the name of speculations. At the time when he was flush with money he would invest in books, and depute Capt. Fitz John to obtain them abroad. Among other works for which he had something of a penchant were those of Lord Bacon. He managed to have quite a sizable importation at different times. On one occasion, when the captain came into port and brought him a bale of books, he found the lawyer in financial difficulties of a shady character. On the following day the property was to be "distrainted." Under the colonial law among other things exempt from the claws of the creditor was meat of various descriptions and quantities. Bewailing the fact that his books must go under the hammer, he was disconsolate when the captain came with the additional volumes. He had a decent supply of wits and he and the lawyer, working industriously by night, managed to stow away a good deal of the library in meat barrels in the cellar. On top of each was a layer of bacon in coarse salt. The following day, when the sheriff's clerk came with his red chalk, he scrawled his "X" on each of the barrels, and the contents were exempted. It must have been some time later when Capt. Fitz John related the story, and managed to add, "Leave it to any one if them bar'ls didn't hold Bacon!" And so when a debtor got the best of his creditors by questionable methods, the proceedings got to be known as "saving one's bacon."

The Fathead.

It surely would be imprudent to address that formidable creature the swordfish as Fathead, yet the term would be quite appropriate. The heads of 100 average swordfish will yield sixty-five gallons of an oil that has high market value. Refined and sun-bleached, it is indistinguishable from whale oil, and fetches the same price. In fact, commercially, it is whale oil.

Whale oil is obtained on a much larger scale from halibut heads, which are treated in the same way as the swordfish heads—i. e., cooked to a pulp with steam and pressed. A short ton of them will yield 40 gallons of oil. Boston and Gloucester (Mass.) annually produce 12,000 gallons of refined oil from halibut heads.

Away back in the seventies somebody discovered that salmon heads were rich in oil, and since then the production of it has been a considerable industry in connection with the Pacific salmon fishery. By 1895 the annual output had risen to 50,000 gallons.

Force of Habit Only.

"Billy Youngdod's baby is beginning to talk now," said Jones to Smith, the other day.

"Why, has he been boring you with stories about it?" said Smith.

"No, but I sat near him at luncheon today and I heard him say absent-mindedly to the waitress, 'Dimme a flinky water, p'ease.'"—London Tit-Bits.

A Cure.

Mrs. Upp—Doctor, my complexion is something awful. What would you suggest?

Doctor—You will have to diet.

Mrs. Upp—Oh, I never thought of that. What color would be most becoming?

Tested 250,000 Miles Three-Point Cantilever Springs Greatest Improvement Since Pneumatic Tires

OVERLAND 4 has been put through the most thorough and severe test possible. 250,000 miles of mountain trails, desert sand, heat, cold, mud and dust, demonstrated the quality of every part of the car long before we began manufacturing.

This remarkable test showed conclusively that Three-Point Cantilever Springs, exclusive with Overland, are the greatest improvement in riding comfort since the introduction of pneumatic tires.

They protect the car from road shocks and prolong the life of every part.

They enable the wheels to hold better to the road. They give greater comfort under all road conditions.

They do away almost entirely with side sway and rebound which twist and rack the car.

Diagonal attachment of the Three-Point Springs at both ends of a 130-inch Springbase gives the steadiness and smooth riding of the heavy car of long wheelbase.

Priceless Relics Destroyed.

Many almost priceless relics from the White House during its occupancy by President Harrison and bequeathed to Mrs. Lillie Eaton, a direct descendant of the late chief executive, were destroyed recently when lightning struck the Eaton home, near the Harrison tomb, and burned it to the ground. Several pieces of mahogany furniture, paintings, antique candlesticks and china, laces, linen and jewelry, vast land grants for much Ohio valley territory and other documents of great historical value were destroyed, as were letters by Presidents James Buchanan, Andrew Johnson, John Tyler and Rutherford B. Hayes and by Daniel Webster.

Denmark Has Oldest Flag.

The flag of Denmark, a plain red banner, bearing on it a white cross, is the oldest flag now in existence. For more than 500 years both Norway and Sweden were united with Denmark under this flag. In the year 1212 King Waldemar of Denmark, when leading his troops to battle against the Livonians, saw, or thought he saw, a bright light in the form of a cross in the sky. He held this appearance to be a promise of divine aid, and pressed forward to victory. From this time he had the cross placed on the flag of his country and called it the Dannebrog—that is, the strength of Denmark.
